NEW YEARS INTENTIONS.....

One final e-mail for the year!

This is the focus for the New Year:

BUDGET, BOOKS AND PLANNING

If you do not have a budget or know where you stand right now, we can't plan. I can't make it any simpler nor can I ignore the spas that can't answer the year end question; where am I and what are the tax consequences of not knowing where I am? You missed.

OPPORTUNITY

YEAR END

It is almost too late to get this quarter in line. Ask this question: I have $35,000 in profit for the year 2006, what can I do to reduce my tax burden?

How many of you know if you have a profit or a loss? No planning necessary if you can't answer that question. Why? Without a clear grasp on where you are today and the next few months you might as well use the dart board method. Does this ring true for you?

If it is your current state of affairs, start 2007 with a 12 month budget so that next year you can have a different answer.

CALL TODAY FOR A MEETING REGARDING:

BUDGETS

BOOKKEEPING

CAPITAL FUNDING

REAL ESTATE

If you can answer the question, you have a week to plan a tax strategy that may save dollars. Bunching your expenses is one way to save tax dollars. Accelerated depreciation is another. A SEP IRA is another.

Did you know that this time of year is the best time for equipment suppliers? The buying comes in a panic decision to follow the instructions of accountants and tax planners. People are actually told to buy more to save taxes. A budget and a plan is the civilized approach we would like all our clients take next year. Know it is coming and make good decisions. Ah, the joys of having a budget!

Happy Holidays and enjoy a fine New Years! May your gift certificate sales bring you much cash. One more quick year end note: All that gift certificate money is a liability on your books, treat that money as if it is going to be redeemed tomorrow, it just may happen!
